HELL HOUND

A suffocating shroud of terror has paralyzed Dartmoor following the horrific, unexplained death of Sir Charles Baskerville.

While the coroner points to a heart affliction, local residents are gripped by panic over whispers of giant, monstrous paw prints found near the Baronet's body. Blood-curdling baying now echoes across the fog-drenched mires after dusk, convincing villagers that the ancient, bloodthirsty hell-hound of local legend has returned.

"for Hugo Baskerville passed me upon his black mare, and there ran mute behind him such a hound of hell as God forbid should ever be at my heels."
